Foothill area near Sunol

Ag preserve status denied

By CATHY MOSS
Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND - A request for protection of some 200 acres along Foothill Road near Sunol was denied Thursday as Alameda County Board of Supervisors cited the potential inequitable subsidy of the rural life.

In a 3-1 vote with Supervisor John Murphy dissenting, supervisors denied the request for agricultural preserve designation to the Foothill Road properties.

The 27 parcels, averaging 9.2 acres in size, owned by 21 different people does not the meet the criteria established for the tax - shelter designation, supervisors said.

In his report to the board, Alameda County Planning William Fraley said, "Merely because subject properties or any residential properties are larger than the typical urban or suburban residential lot does not justify inclusion in the preserve program.

"To do so would allow them, due to their chosen lifestyle, a special tax advantage which is unmerited and unjustified and not available to the vast majority of county residents."

Also cited was a board policy which states that a single parcel of 20 or less acres which contains a single residence "shall not be considered for agricultural preserve status unless the residence is accesory to extensive commercial or agricultural use."

Fraley said the area soils do not lend to intensive agricultural use and almost every parcel has a residence.

Spokesman for the landowners Lynn T. Bowers told the board he would seek agricultural preserve designation for the subject properties even if there weren't a tax break involved.

The land provides open space and is already designated a scenic corridor, he said.

Harold Lowden told the board maintaining his 6 acres on Foothill Road with cattle, goats, horses, chickens and vegetable gardens was increasingly expensive. "I see it coming where I'd have to go somewhere else" he said.

Supervisor Joseph Bort balked at the testimony saying "It's not open space, it's only residential. It's just a few lots together." If the board were to approve the application, it could be forced to place into agricultural preserve all five acre plots in the county used for gardening, he said.

The land in question is nearby the proposed Rancho de la Cresta development which, according to plans, will include 300 homes, a fire station and shopping complexes. If approved, the development would double the population of Sunol.

The agricultural preserve provision, created by the Williamson Act, provides for lots of 100 acres or more to be placed in agricultural preserves at the request of the owner.

The act was designed to protect farmland from skyrocketing taxation as surrounding areas urbanized and assessments rose.

The county provision permits the designation for smaller plots if under heavy agricultural use or if vacant and the owner promises not to build.

The application was the third such request made for Valley land in recent months. A similar group of landowners on Collier Canyon Road requested the designation in January of 1973. The application was denied because it did not meet the intent of the Williamson Act, Fraley said.

A somewhat similar request was granted later to the Kilkare Woods Association. The application differed from the Foothill request because the land was owned by the association and available for public use. The home sites there are not in the preserve, Fraley added.

State eyes reclaiming quarries

PLEASANTON — Representatives of local sand and gravel operations met with members of the State Senate Committee on Natural Resources here Thursday to discuss possible legislation governing the reclamation of open quarries.

Such legislation could have a far-reaching impact on the valley as it contains the largest gravel harvesting operation in an urban area in the state. More than 2,000 acres in the valley is being or will be excavated by the four local gravel harvesting operators.

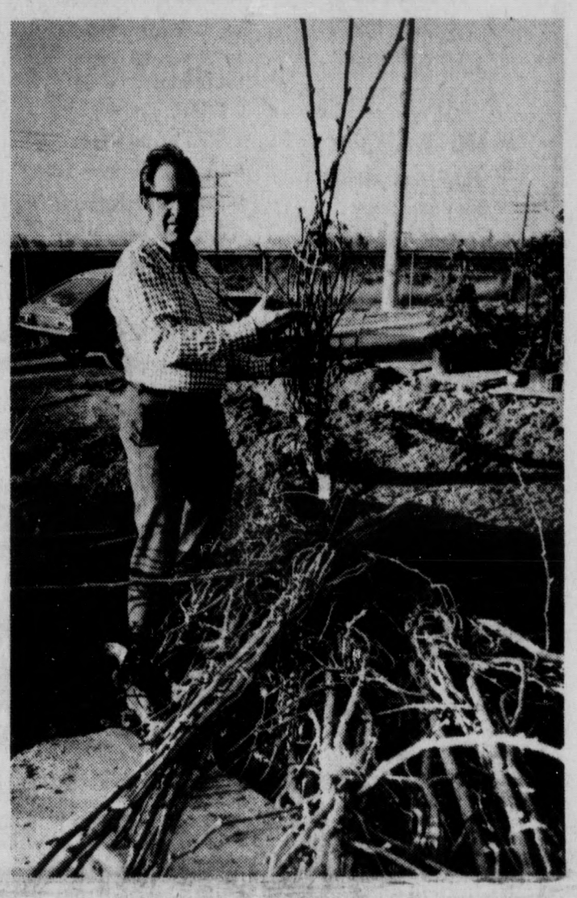
Senator John Nejedly of Walnut Creek, chairman of the state committee, and Senator Reuben Ayala of San Bernadino toured the local sand and gravel operations Thursday and will hold a public hearing on possible legislation today at the Sheraton Inn in Concord. A similar tour and public hearing were held in Southern California last December.

The committee has not yet determined whether legislation is needed to govern reclamation of quarries and, if it is needed, what form that legislation will take.

During Thursday's tour, the committee members visited Shadow Cliffs Park, an example of reclamation for recreation, and also viewed quarries belonging to Kaiser, Lone Star and Rhodes and Jamieson.

Kaiser Industries is proposing a mammoth sanitary land fill to reclaim its quarries. That project has been strenuously opposed by the City of Pleasanton and Zone 7 because of the potential danger it will create for the underground water supply and whether it will be allowed to proceed has still not been resolved.

The State Water Resources Control Board placed such stringent conditions on the project as to make it physically and economically unfeasible. Kaiser contested the state board's procedures in court, however, and new hearings will be held sometime this spring.



Sycamores arrive

The trees are here. Two hundred and fifty London Plane Sycamores that were purchased by friends of Pleasanton for planting throughout the community. That drive has already netted over $4000, and the city crew is providing the necessary expertise to give the bare root trees a good start. Street Superintendent Phil Hallock poses here with the first of those new arrivals for that big beautification job. Major boulevards will profit from the "Trees for Pleasanton" program, recalling that era when "this was a community known for its fine, big trees." The London Plane Sycamore grows to some 80 feet in height within 15 years, offering a span of 40 feet. (Times Photo)

Park bond fund share by spring

PLEASANTON — The city hopes to receive at least a portion of its $155,948 share of the multi-million 1974 state park bond act by late spring, the Park and Recreation Commission was told Wednesday night.

Once the money is received, Recreation Superintendent Bob Caporusso told the commission, work will begin on the five projects to which that money has been allocated.

A total of $90,000 has been allocated to construct a deep water pool at the Aquatic Center; $20,000 will go toward a tot lot and picnic area at Val Vista Park; $20,000 for a youth play area and picnic area at Hansen Park; $16,000 for a bike trail along Hopyard Road and Johnson Industrial Drive; and $9,948 for site improvements for the Cultural Arts Center at Amador Community Park.

Distribution of the money has been delayed, Caporusso told the board, because an appropriations bill had to be introduced in the state lgislature and the methods used to promote the state bond act were challenged (unsuccessfully) in court.

Once the funds are received, Caporusso said, the city has three years to spend them.

The commission also heard status reports on five park projects — Century House and Park, Woodthrush Park, Pleasanton Sports and Recreation Park and the Cultural Arts Center.

— Century House should be ready for public use within 60 days and the first phase of the surrounding park should be completed by the end of June.

— Woodthrush Park has been completed and the homeowners in the area will be planting 112 trees this weekend with help from city crews.

— Phase I of the Sports and Recreation Park has been completed and Phase II will be going out to bid in March.

— Monday night the staff will recommend to the city council the city finance the entire Cultural Arts Center.

The commission also agreed to tour city park sites at 3 p.m. Jan. 31 and to schedule a special meeting for 8 p.m. Feb. 4 at the Pleasanton Justice Court to discuss capital improvements projects for the 1974-75 fiscal year.

Glavor Assembly bid awaited right moment

By PAT WIDDER

George Glavor really made his decision to run for the assembly some 10 years ago and has been waiting for the right moment ever since.

The 37-year-old Hayward Democrat is seeking no endorsements and is depending on "family and friends" to contribute the $7,500 he feels will be needed for his campaign. He is regional manager for the Associated California State Insurance Agencies and previously was an American Government instructor at Castro Valley High School.

Glavor characterizes himself as a conservative but he proposes some rather far-reaching changes in the economic system. His campaign is based on his own strong opinions and he said, "If that costs us the election, so be it. I believe you have to be responsible enough to state where you stand."

Glavor believes the time has come for "permanent guidelines on wages, prices, profits and productivity." In the past, he contends, the "government has moved in only during a crisis and has moved out again after the crisis." And that, he said, has not worked.

"We have seen effective controls on wages," he admits, "but not on prices and profits." Glavor maintains he is a "capitalist" and does not believe his changes would "destroy the profit incentive and the incentive to work. I think it faces the realities of the economy," he said.

GEORGE GLAVOR
Campaigning on beliefs

Coupled with those changes, which he admits can only be handled on the federal level, Glavor would like to see more public service employment and an extension of unemployment benefits to help those who are out of work.

He also proposes "property tax reform for those over 65" and believes those making less than $10,000 should not pay any property tax at all.

Home offices of insurance companies should be made to pay their fair share of taxes. Glavor contends, and income taxes should be increased for those families and individuals making more than $25,000 a year.

Glavor said he is opposed to the widening of Interstate 580 through the Dublin Canyon to six or eight lanes because it is "short-sighted." With "increased gas prices or hopefully gas rationing," he said, "people are going to be priced out of the fuel market." He views increased use of mass transit and solar or atomic energy as the solutions to this country's energy problems.

Glavor admits those energy problems cannot be handled on only a district or state level but must be attacked at the federal level.

He is opposed to Harlan Geldermann's proposed Las Positas New Town because "adding another governmental unit will only complicate things" in the valley.

Glavor also is opposed to regional government because he contends the state - county - city line is the most direct and affords local governments the most control over their futures. "Local governments should have the final say on things that affect them," he said and added he would go so far as to "Propose an amendment to the state constitution to insure people have control over their own lives."

Bonding capacity over $15 million

PLEASANTON — A recent audit of city finances completed by a Hayward accounting firm, reveals Pleasanton's available bonding capacity to be more than $15 million.

Available or legal bonding capacity is based on 15 per cent of a city's assessed valuation minus outstanding debts. Practical bonding capacity, however, is computed at 7.5 percent of the assessed valuation total minus debts.

According to figures supplied by the firm of Bray & Burke, Pleasanton's assessed value for 1974-75 was nearly $111 million and 15 percent of that total is $16,643,892. When $1,587,000 in outstanding debts is subtracted, that brings the legal bonding capacity to $15,056,892.

Jim Walker, the city's finance director, said the city's "practical bonding capacity" is $8,321,094 minus the $1,587,000 in debts, or a total of $6,734,946.

If the city sold bonds up to that total, Walker added, it would amount to slightly more than 50 cents on the tax rate. Each $1 million, Walker explained, amounts to approximately eight cents on the tax rate.

Among projects the city council has considered for bond financing are a new sewer treatment plant and completion of numerous park projects.

No decision on BART till next summer

DUBLIN — A final decision on whether this valley will ultimately be served by a BART rail line or whether service will continue to be provided by buss will probably be made by this summer.

At the Livermore-Amador Valley BART Extension Board meeting Wednesday, board members agreed to schedule several public hearings on that issue for March. The final report, which outlines the proposed BART rail route throughout the valley and delineates costs of both alternatives, will be completed by March 9.

The final decision as to rail or bus service will not be made by the local BART board, Howard Goode of BART said, but rather by the full BART board and the Metropolitan- Transportation Commission. "That will come as a policy decision," Goode said, following the public hearings. Times, dates and places of those hearings will be announced later.

Stark offers law to thwart Arabs

Rep. Fortney (Pete) Stark, D Oakland, will introduce legislation aimed at preventing Arabs and other aliens from getting undue control over American banks.

Stark said "a pattern is emerging which indicates Arab interests are raising money through questionable arms deals and using the funds to buy banks."

Stark, a former banker, sold Security National Bank to an Arab when he took office in 1973.

"When my bank was sold, I was under the impression that the money was coming from a group of Saudi Arabian businessmen who were entering banking strictly as an investment."

He said he made "an appalling discovery" after the sale was closed.

The primary purchaser, Adnan M. Khashoggi, was receiving commissions from Lockheed for the sale of jet fighters to Saudi Arabia.

The new legislation would restrict alien ownership to one bank and prevent expansion into chains of banks and other interests, Stark said.

CHUCK GIELOW

Gielow new chairman

PLEASANTON — Chuck Gielow, who has served on the Park and Recreation Commission for three years, was elected chairman of that body Wednesday night.

Gielow is a certified public accountant in Pleasanton.

Ken Mercer, who has served on the commission for six months and is an executive with Pacific Telephone Co., was elected vice chairman.

Chabot promotes Valleyites

Two Valley residents will be moving into new positions at Chabot College.

Linda Lucas of Pleasanton, a former materials technician for the Livermore Unified School District, is the new assistant dean of instruction for the Learning Resource Center at the new Valley Campus of Chabot, which will be opening this spring in Livermore.

Also, Dr. Lee Hinckley of Pleasanton was appointed associate dean of instruction for the arts and sciences at Chabot. He succeeds Dr. Barbara Mertes, who was recently put in charge of the Valley campus as dean.

Miss Lucas has been a librarian at Chabot since 1969. She was a librarian at Mission San Jose High School in Fremont for five years before joining the Chabot faculty. Prior to that, she had held the materials technician job in Livermore.

She is immediate past president of the Northern Section, California Association of School Librarians, member of the American Library Association, California Teachers Association and other professional organizations.

She holds a bachelor of arts and master of arts degree from San Jose State College and has done additional graduate work at Brigham Young University and the University of California. She lives at 4848 Golden Road, Pleasanton.

Dr. Hinckley joined the Chabot staff in 1967 as director of community services and has been largely responsible for developing the school's extensive community services program. He is chairman of the college's curriculum committee.

He is currently serving as president of the Hayward Area Concert Association, member of the board of directors of the Alameda County Visiting Nurses Association, Alameda County Bicentennial Commission and Hayward Family Tutorials Program. He is a former member of the board of the Eden Commission on Aging and the board of directors of the College Association for Public Events and Services.

LINDA LUCAS

DR. LEE HINCKLEY

He has been an instructor - counselor at Augusta Junior College in Georgia; administrative assistant to the president of Illinois Teachers College, Chicago; and curriculum analyst at the University of Utah while studying for his doctorate in educational administration.

He holds bachelor of sciences and master of science degrees from Brigham Young University. He lives with his wife, Dorothy, and four children at 2471 Minivet Court, Pleasanton.

Youth taking to latest fad—motocross biking

MOTOCROSSERS PRACTICE IN PLEASANTON

BY LILLY AULT

Fads are common to the world of children, and the latest is the Motocross bike. Eight to 18 year olds have become involved in the competitions over the last year and a half.

The Motocross bike "offers everything but a motor" in resemblance to a motorcyle, according to one bike shop owner. It's safer, kids have it offers good exercise as the legs become the motor for the bike.

According to a couple of pros in the Bicycle Motocross, Paul Johnson and Dave Gane of Gatetree Circle, Pleasanton, the fastest speed they have ever been able to obtain on their bikes is 40 milss per hour and "that's going downhill.'

Paul and Dave have their own bikes which they built themselves by putting bits and pieces together from a spider bike type frame and making it stronger to take the wear and tear of the racing.

If purchased, the bike can cost anywhere from $139 to $200 depending where it is purchased and what type of equipment is on the bike' "Most of the boys make their own bikes," the boys commented.

Paul and Dave are constant participants in the Bicycle Motocross held near Meritt College in Oakland. Dave is a winner of five trophies and is considered a "great rider" by his friends.

The Motocross is a race where skill is a main factor in winning. Speed is important too, according to the boys, but unless the rider can control his bike through the race course, the speed can throw him off balance.

The race is a well organized event with special rules and regulations. In order to participate in the race the following requirements are necessary: a bike of one speed only, 20 inch max rear wheels, gloves, helmets, long sleeved shirts, long pants, boots, handgrips that cover the end of the handlebars with no protrusion over one quarter of an inch, front mounted number plate, three figures maximum and three inches minimum height of figures, padding on the handle crossbar and goose neck. Fenders can be added, but not necessary.

Rules are strongly enforced and those who do not follow them are not permitted to race.

There is an entry fee of $1.25 to cover insurance and part of the expenses to pay for course markers and improvements.

Boys and girls from age six are welcome to race. As many as 160 kids have entered the race, therefore several preliminary runs are held and riders must qualify to compete in the main event where trophies are awarded.

In this main event or finals approximately 10 to 20 participants are involved.

What brought about this great interest in dare devil bike racing? Evel Knievel, of course! "The kids can be exhibitionist, try to show how brave they are and show off a bit," commented a bike shop owner.

According to this bike shop owner, motocross accessories are the "biggest part of the bike business today." Ten speed have dropped off tremendously.

The age level for riding the smaller bike at one time was mainly five to eight year olds. Now it is popular with 14 to 18 years olds as well.

Races are held twice a month. The last race attracted 400 participants.

Information and dates of the races may be obtained from any bike shop.

Miller retaliates in widen 580 debate

Livermore Councilman Don Miller contacted The Times Thursday to deliver the latest round in the brouhaha over the widening of Interstate 580 through the Dublin Canyon.

Miller precipitated the debate by directing a letter to Thomas Quinn, head of the California Air Resources Board (the letter was incorrectly addressed to another Thomas Quinn in the attorney general's office), urging a further review of the widening, which was approved in December.

Pleasanton Mayor Floyd Mori responded to what he termed "errors, innuendos and gross misstatements of fact" in Miller's letter by writing to the secretary of the state transportation agency.

In the latest round, Miller said he is "tired of repeated distortions of certain Pleasanton spokesmen who claim...Livermore opposes any widening and...that Livermore is the only valley agency opposing eight lanes. Both statements are false," Miller said. "Livermore and the Valley Community Services District both favor a safer widening but of smaller scale." The two agencies favored a widening to six lanes.

Miller also disputed Mori's "claim that highway access doesn't induce growth," calling that contention "incredible." (In his letter, Mori stated the valley is already accessible to the Metropolitan Bay Area via Interstate 680 and the Dublin Canyon; consequently, the improvement of the Dublin Canyon stretch would not necessarily be "growth inducing".)

Miller also called "this kind of continual nonsense from Pleasanton an embarassment to the valley."

Mate school

Navy Airman Apprentice Michael E. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon M. Campbell of 3955 Vineyard Ave., Pleasanton, is attending the basic course of Aerographer's Mate School at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Lakehurst, N.J.

Zone 7 secures finance matters

The Board of Directors of Zone 7, supplier of two-thirds of the Valley's water, Wednesday night approved a record $1.8 million in general fund expenditures, and $2.831 million in water facilities budgets.

The general fund covers expenditures for channel maintenance and general, Zone-wide operations, while the water facilities budget entails the importation, processing, selling and debt service on bonds, including accumulation of funds for improving the system.

Board Secretary Robert Becker announced at last Wednesday's regular meeting that Zone 7 is in a "sound financial position."

The new budget reflects an anticipated drop in local tax assessment from 38 to 34 cents, and includes a "carry-over" of $514,000 in the general fund, and $1 million in water facilities funds.

The general fund carry-over is needed to "guarantee an operating system at all times," until receipt of property tax revenue later in the year, and the $1 million tie-over is required for capital improvements, according to Zone 7 staff.

The board concluded their meeting by awarding a three-year contract to Bray and Burke, Certified Public Accountants, for an audit of the water facilities program, approved as a bond issue in November, 1972.

Revenue bond law requires the use of an independent, outside audit in publicly approved bonds.

Murphy urges water basin study harmony

Alameda County Supervisor John D. Murphy is urging cooperation with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' proposed water basin study.

In a letter addressed to his constituents, the 12-year board member says the Army's offer to coordinate studies on flood control, water resources, water quality and other such matters should be "looked on as an opportunity, not a threat to local agencies."

"Recent criticism of the Corps of Engineers by certain councilmen in Livermore is totally unjustified," he says. "Their attitude in opposing all constructive steps to solve the problems of the area, unless it is under their control, is constributing heavily to the economic slowdown."

The corps of engineers in November began to propose a study of all valley water-related problms as part of a newly-authorized urban studies program.

Th proposal drew hostility when delivered to the Zone 7 board of directors. The board later agreed to serve as the coordinator of the study.

"The United States Corps and the California Department of Resources should be commended for the tremendous cooperation and benefits they have brought to our area through the federal and state water-oriented projects in the Alameda Creek drainag basin and plain.

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING
Collective bargaining to the average public employee means one thing: The opportunity to be represented collectively for the purpose of negotiating wages, benefits and working conditions. It appears that collective bargaining for all public employees will become a reality by mid-1975.
Developing and implementing a system for the public employees which actually proves to be beneficial will be an extremely complex matter. If not properly developed, it will be nothing more than a membership monopoly rather than true collective bargaining.
The first of an expected number of legislative bills, AB-119, has been introduced. It does not provide an improved bargaining position for public employees. It instead simply provides a system in which employees will be forced to join a large organization, pay its fees, dues and get less representation.
Unit determination is perhaps the single most important section of an effective bargaining system.
No large, heterogeneous employee organization can meet the needs of all employees by grouping those employees into one unit.
I do, and will continue to support efforts to develop and implement a bonafide, meaningful system, one that will preserve and strengthen the voice of employees.

Election Notes

JOYCE LECLAIRE

Joyce LeClaire has received the endorsement of the statewide California pemocratic Women's Caucus, according to Helen Fama, state co-chairwoman of the caucus. The action was taken in San Diego through the organization's Steering Committee.

LeClaire said, if elected, she would "vigorously support proposals to remove the power" from the state legislature for legislators to set their own salaries, expense allowances and pensions. LeClaire said she is in favor of putting that power in the hands of a non-partisan commission.

MARC ELLIOT

Teachers fron Livermore, Pleasanton and Murray school districts will hold a reception from 4 to 7 p.m. Friday for Elliot. for school needs. It Elliot. The reception will be held at Eagles Hall, 527 North Livermore Ave. in Livermore. Citizens are urged to come and meet the candidate.

Mori believes the most important issues facing the state legislature are the sagging economy and rising unemployment. "The state must do more to provide job opportunities for those in need. Training programs and schools must respond by providing the unemployed with the skills to compete in the job market," he added. A prime factor in "the quality of life," Mori said, "is maintaining the self - respect and human dignity of the individual."

"As assemblyman," Mori added, "I would work diligently toward creating new jobs and maintaining the value of work and productivity in order to promote vitality in our economy."

Vandenburgh said one of his top priorities will be to "sponsor a bill to require homebuilders to dedicate land and housing for school needs. It seems to me appropriate that new residents, through the price of the house, pay their fair share of the cost of providing school housing for their children," he said. "I intend to vigorously pursue this," he added, "and any other reasonable alternative to solving the problem of inadequate and overcrowded schools."

Vandenburgh has also endorsed the proposed Ridgelands National Park, which would range from Sunol Regional Park on the south to Las Trampas Regional Park on the north.

RUDY TRIVISO

A champagne reception will be held for Triviso from 8 to 10 p.m. Friday at 310 Alice Way in Livermore. Hostesses Gene Rubio and Mary Amaral invite the public to attend.

Hearing today on marathon

LIVERMORE — The alleged driver of a high-powered Jeep that ran two Livermore Police cars and an East Bay Regional Parks' helicopter over a 17 mile, 30 minute course at speeds in excess of 100 mph last Wednesday had his case set for a preliminary hearing today at 2 p.m.

Wayne Hamilton Dickey, 27, pleaded not guilty earlier this week to one count of assault with a deadly weapon, a felony, two counts of battery on a police officer, and one misdemeanor charge of reckless driving

Dickey is represented by the Public Defender's office.

According to Livermore Police reports, Dickey's high speed chase began from the traffic signal at Fourth and K Streets at 3:10 p.m., and ended near a ranch road off Mines Road after Dickey allegedly turned the Jeep around and "aimed" it at patrolman Craig Worden.

Worden jumped into some bushes, and Dickey was apprehended at Patrolman Leonard Wicksten's hastily set up roadblock after Dickey ran into Wicksten's patrol car, according to police reports.

The saga didn't end until that evening, however, as Dickey, taken to Valley Memorial Hospital for slight injuries sustained to his right hand, allegedly threw an ice bag at one officer, slugged another, and fled down the street.

He was caught and returned to police headquarters.

Volunteers school meet

Valley school volunteers are invited to a regional workshop for volunters, teachers and administrators Saturday in Oakland.

"Volunteers Are In . . .Education" will be held 8:45 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday in Skyline High School, 12250 Skyline Blvd., Oakland. Registration is $2, with an additional $2 for a box lunch.

It will be the first Northern California volunteers conference. Dr. Phyllis Kaplan of Cal State, Hayward, will be keynote speaker, opening the conference with "It's Positively Fun: Techniques for Managing Lparning Environments."

Further information may be obtained from Livermore's volunteer coordinator, Kay Honodel, at the district office, 447 - 9500.

NEWLYWED MIKE AND STEPHANIE REYNOLDS, off to Malaysia and the Peace Corps next week, are dinner guests of Shirley and David Bray in Livermore Saturday evening. Friends are saying their goodbyes to the popular local couple who will be spending Tuesday and Wednesday in San Francisco for a Peace Corps staging, getting necessary materials, before flying out on Pan-Am Friday, Jan. 30. From San Francisco they fly to Hong Kong and their final destination: Kuala Lumpur, capital of Malaysia, where they'll spend the next two years.

Daughter of Joe and June Veiera, Steph is a graduate of Amador High School in Pleasanton and is interrupting her third year as an anthropology major at the University of California at Davis to join the Peace Corps. Mike is a graduate of Livermore High School and earned his Bachelor of Science Degree from UC Davis last June in agriculture-economics business management. He's the son of Mary and Maurice Reynolds of Livermore.

Mike will be teaching Malaysian cattle growers about marketing and research in the industry as well as newest information on breeding. Steph will also be teaching, probably a language.

Mike's decision to join the Peace corps was no overnight thing, his mother says. He's been mulling it over for about three years, even through his R.O.T.C. training at Davis. He's also been an acolyte at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church the past five years and is a former president of the youth group there.

By the way, if you had any notion that the Peace Corps was becoming extinct, banish the thought. Two hundred Peace Corp workers are in Malaysia now, according to Mary Reynolds. And Mike and Steph Reynolds are in a group of one hundred leaving San Francisco as replacements in that land. Two years is the limit for a P.C. stay in one country.

OUR BILL HAYDEN had his auto stolen Tuesday from in front of The Times building where he parked it between calls on advertisers. A small gray sedan wagon. It so happens that the Haydens, Bill and Barbara, are so hooked on the little gas saver that they own two of them: same make, same model, same color.(Would I kid you??) Anyhow, with his own car gone, Bill drove Barbara's to work on Wednesday, parked it in front of The Times on the same spot from which his car had been stolen the day before.

Suggestion to the local gendarme: Stake out The Times area and arrest the first person who does a double take on driving by Barbara's car.

BELATED HAPPY BIRTHDAY, Veronique Biscay! Veronique turned 90 years young yesterday and relatives and friends at the Hacienda Convalescent Hospital where she lives helped her celebrate. Veronique looks back on many years in Livermore, having moved here in 1906 after emigrating from her native France. Her late husband, Michael, was also from France and had a fuel distributorship in Livermore. Among those congratulating Mrs. Biscay yesterday were her daughter Jennie Goldwater, now living in Oakland; two grandchildren, Louis Dentici and Dorothy Cavalli, both of Livermore, and five great grandchildren.

WITH THE BOARD OF Supervisors' vote Tuesday to establish a 15-member Commission on the Status of Women, Eastbay's National Organization for Women, League of Women Voters, American Association of University Women and others throughout Alameda County who pressed for the Commission are delighted, but not resting on any laurels. Yet to be decided are the budget, the membership and babysitting expenses to allow low income women to participate. But the first big move has been made, said one woman this week. Each of the five supervisors will name three to the commission from his district. There is considerable interest in who the nominees will be.

WITH NOT ONE HOLIDAY set aside to honor an outstanding woman in the United States, the St. Louis chapter of NOW has initiated legislation through Congressman James Symington (D-Mo.) to designate Feb. 15, Susan B. Anthony's birthday, as a legal public holiday.

Symington wrote his colleagues: "After a struggle for equality which began a hundred years ago, the American woman is close to being accepted as equal under the laws of our land.

Yet not one day is memorialized with a day of remembrance. So it is fitting that one particular women, the pioneer of this movement, this awareness, be accorded this recognition."

More than two dozen congresspersons have now co-sponsored the bill, but it remains in committee. To move it along, St. Louis NOW has initiated a mail campaign, sending congressmen illustrated postcards urging their support. You can order them from St. Louis NOW, P.O. Box 16132, St. Louis, Mo. 63105 (enclose 5 cents per card and a stamped self-addressed envelope) or mail cards of your own.

PLAN STRATEGY FOR "Y" SUSTAINING MEMBERSHIP DRIVE
Ed Rundstrom, Dick Piepenburg, Dick Dagleman and Dick Babington

$17,100 goal set

"Y" campaign set

The Twin Valley YMCA Sustaining Membership Drive will get underway on Feb. 18, according to Dick Babington, executive director of the "Y".

"This year's campaign will involve 146 campaigners from the Twin Valley area, under the leadership of Ed Rundstrom as general chairman and with division chairmen Dick Dagleman, Ray Goluba and Dick Piepenburg," Babington announced.

The goal of $17,100 is the minimum required if the "Y" is to continue serving and expanding its programs for the youth and families of the valley, he added.

The "Y" offers a variety of programs for all ages, including Y-Indian Guides, Y-Indian Princesses, Trail Blazers, Gra-Y, Jr. Hi-Y, Judo, Yoga, Slim and Trim, Guitar, Women's Self Defense and Get Fit to Ski.

There are also day camps, residence and family camps, bike hi hikes, canoe trips, backpacking, winter snow trips, Rogue River, Disneyland, caravan trips, plus other activities such as the annual Haunted House and Christmas Tree Lot.

Sr. Citizen time change

A slide presentation of the history of the American flag will highlight the meeting of the Livermore Senior Citizen Club Sunday at 1 p.m. at the Recreation Center, Eighth and H streets, Livermore. The program honors the purchase of a new national emblem by the club.

Tour sheets for 1975 club outings are now available. Sign-up for each tour may be made from noon until 1 p.m. on a predetermined reservation date. If places are still available, a second date for sign-up will be allowed.

A day's trip to the Oakdale Hershey plant Feb. 19 will also include a winery tour.

Reservations for the outing to Port Costa Feb. 5 are still open. Bus fare is $3.40, and the Basque lunch at the Warehouse is $3.25. Second sign-up date is Jan. 26.

The music appreciat on course beginning o'clock a Jan. 28 will meet Tuesday afternoons from 1 to 3 t Crestwood Lodge. New singers over 18 years old may join the group, with a special invitation to male singers. College credit is given.

PWP dance

Parents Without Partners will dance to live music Saturday at Shannon Park Community Center in Dublin, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Cost of the dance is $2 for PWP members and $3 for guests. Refreshments will be served.

Y-Wives is cure for winter blahs

Got the winter blahs confined to the house and limited activity by your small children?

The winter roster of the Livermore Y-Wives will encompass self-defense for women, Indian beadwork, inflation, belly dancing and cake decorating, social activities and community service.

Y-Wives is a YMCA club for married women, especially appropriate for mothers of young children. Weekly meetings provide a morning away from home for children as well as mothers. Child care is provided for a nominal fee with activities planned for children according to their age.

The club's program is planned around the interests of current members. Annual events include a fashion show and the Share-Your-Plant Auction, and fund-raising theater party and garage sale.

Y-Wives community services cover adopting a needy family at holiday time, participating in an art festival, visiting nursing homes and contributing funds to the public library children's section.

The club meets every Tuesday morning while school is in session at the Livermore recreation center at 8th and H streets. Playschool facilities are available for children aged two-months to six years for all meetings.

Interested women may attend two meetings as a visitor. New members are required to join the YMCA, and are eligible for YMCA activities at reduced rates.

Livermore Y-Wives is one of seven similar clubs associated with the Southern Alameda County branch of the Oakland YMCA, with local activities often stemming from YMCA projects and using YMCA resources.

Current officers are Pat Lundberg, president; Barbara Bafley, vice president; Joanne Spears, secretary; and Janeen Waver, treasurer. For further information on the club contractors. Lundberg at 447-7155.

The Jan. 28 Y-Wives meeting will feature a cake decorating demonstration. Reservations for babysitting must be made with Terri Foster at 447-6388 before 2 p.m. on the Monday preceding the meeting.

Martinez leads 'Poke win

By MARTY JAMES

San Ramon High School, possessing an 0 - 12 mark prior to confronting Livermore High School yesterday afternoon in Danville, put together perhaps it's finest performance of the 1975 East Bay Athletic season, though suffering a 2 - 0 loss.

"There's no reason for us to hang our heads today," offered SR head coach Rick Steen. "We passed well, and did everything we did in practice that we did in the game."

The Wolves, who now have an 0 - 8 EBAL record were outshot by the Cowboys 26 - 14, and SR goalie Matt Priewe, one of the leagues best displayed once again to the spectators putting on an excellent performance.

Priewe, who saved 12 shots in the game, couldn't stop the initial goal which led to the Wolves downfall.

The goal was set up by Livermore's Ken Watts who threw it in from the sidelines, then SR halfback Mike Shaner tapped it off his forhead enroute to Priewe, but the ball darted into the left corner of the net for a Cowboy score.

Livermore's Dennis Martinez, who scored both goals was credited with this one, for he was the last player to touch it.

The initial score, which came nine minutes into the second half was followed up fairly quickly when Martinez escaped with the ball and went against Priewe one - on - one and drew the SR goalie out for the score.

Don Gabor, Livermore coach said, "This one was really tough for us. In the first half we just couldn't seem to get anything going at all; San Ramon was really hustling."

Gabor added, "In the second half we went trapping for the ball, then trying to get our offense generating in some way."

It was Livermore's second win over San Ramon this year; as the Cowboys previously beat SR 6-0, shortly before Christmas.

Livermore outshot the Wolves, 26 - 14 although the clubs were even on corner kicks with four each.

Priewe saved 12 Cowboy shots while 'Poke netminder Pete Howard was required to keep the ball out of the Livermore goal just twice.

Mats win 3-1, gridder stars

BY MIKE ZAMPA

Jay Strickland was an All-EBAL linebacker for Granada High this past football season, which helped explain his presence in the forward wall yesterday as Granada pinned a 3-1 soccer defeat on visiting Monte Vista.

The Matadors were simply tired of being knocked around up front, and figured they weren't going to get help from the officials. So they decided to add a dash of muscle. Strickland isn't the picture soccer player. Heck, he wasn't any kind of soccer player before last year. But his hustle, and second half goal, aided Granada in its fourth win of the year yesterday.

"I guess he's the total image of a total hustler," said totally pleased Granada coach Bill Coupe. "Jay makes the defense make mistakes. And, he's a little more physical."

The Mats needed some control in that forward line against Monte Vista, because their break-away threat, Shannon Estil, was suffering with the flu.

Strickland, a tireless runner, provided it.

"I'm just starting to like this game," said Strickland, who has started the last three Granada games. "I just came out for the team because I didn't have anything else to do this time of year.

The senior started the season as a reserve fullback, but fate shoved him to the front last month.

"Shannon broke his glasses in a scrimmage during Christmas Vacation," Strickland explained. "So they put me in and I guess they found out I could play forward."

Mike Ramil proved he can play halfback against the Mustangs, being dropped out of his inside position to replace injured Kevin Burke.

Burke damaged a knee Tuesday and is out for the season.

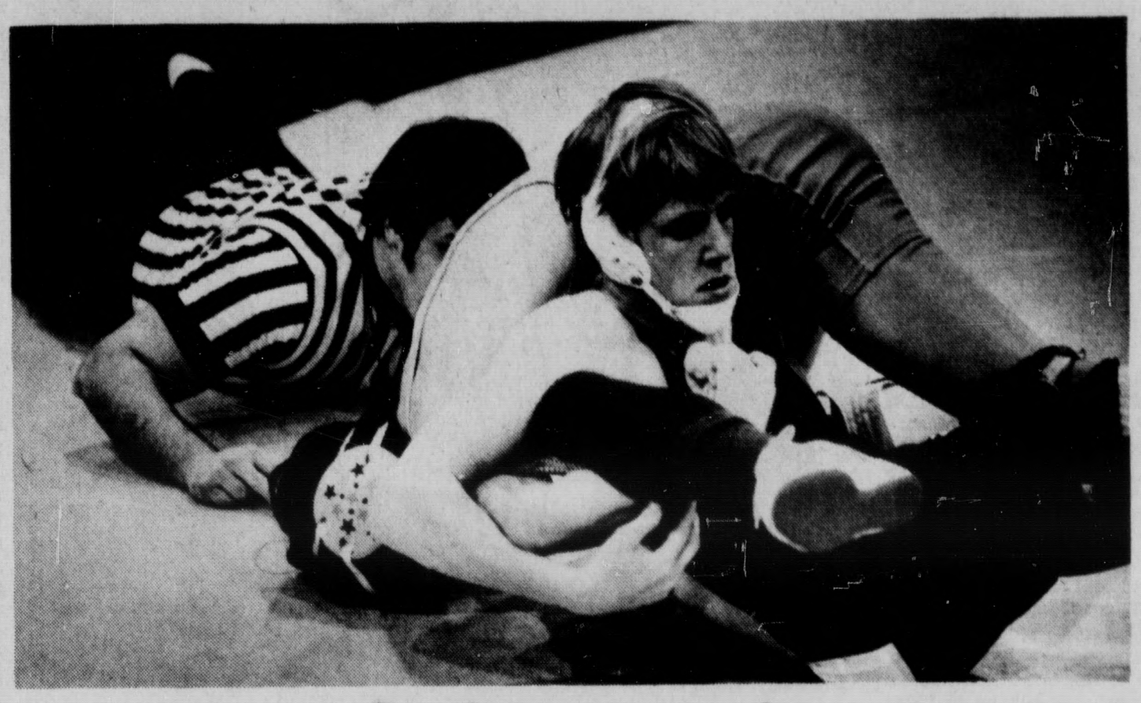
Ramil dominated the middle of the field as his replacement and initiated most of Granada's advances on goal. He almost scored in the final minute, but his free kick goal was disallowed. It was supposed to be an indirect free kick, meaning it had to touch Ramil, plus another player, before crossing the goal line.

Granada opened the scoring 15 minutes into the match on a freak. Goal keeper John Finley squatted to receive a throw-in from a teammate, when suddenly, the ball hopped between his legs. Manzar Iqbal, a junior varsity player til mid-season, snuck behind Finley and tapped the ball home.

Estil's penalty shot made it 2-0 in the second half, then Strickland scored on a lead pass from Iqbal.

"The fullback had the ball tangled up in his feet, so I just took it away from him," Strickland explained. He rammed a five-yard drive just under the cross bar.

Monte Vista's Eric Bruce made it 3-1 late in the contest on another goalie's error. Granada's Kevin Leon rushed from the net snag a bouncing free kick, but over ran the ball. Bruce rushed past Lennon and guided it through.



Pardon my reach

Keith Texeira (light uniform) wraps up Livermore's Scot Thomas in action last week. Texeira and his Granada teammates can cinch an EBAL title tie tonight with a win against Amador Valley in Livermore. Meet begins at 7. In other league action, Livermore is at Dublin.

Dons eye Bay top

Amador Valley High Shhool may be playing for the top spot in East Bay basketball tonight when it takes on Granada in Pleasanton.

Tipoff is set for 8 p.m. in the Dons' gym.

Amador is 2-0 in the EBAL, one-half game in front of Granada and Dublin. The Dons are working on a 14-game win streak in the league and are favored to make it 15 against the Matadors.

Since top rated Oakland High suffered a brutal beating by Tech earlier in the week, the way may be clear for Amador to take over number one in the polls. The Dons are ranked number two this week.

Granada is one of the few EBAL teams able to challenge Amador heigth-wise.

Amador has the edge in experience and poise though, and that will weigh against the Mats.

Their propensity to throw the ball away could be magnified by the Dons' merciless defense.

It will take a steady game from Granada guards Mike Fracisco and Scott Campbell to offset this.

One interesting feature should be contrasting styles which will grate on each other during the course of the game. The Matadors try to run, but may run head on into Amador's deliberate attack. A good rebounding effort by the Dons will destroy Granada's fast break.

Potter's takes pizza battle

Dan Duke scored eight points in the second half as Potter's Pizza turned a 16-14 halftime lead into a 34-29 victory over Pizza Arcade in Livermore recreation basketball Wednesday night.

Duke finished with 12 points in the fight for pizza supremacy. Arcade's Ted Anderson was high scorer with 13. Potter's was aided by Dave Prokosh's nine points, and eight by Gary Jensen.

Jim Cambridge poured through 27 points leading Lloyd's Bank to a 46-30 decision over McGregor's National Reserve Life. Lane Fabian scored 20 for the losers.

Favored Ballistic to play in Vegas

Three heavily favored Pleasanton teams arrived in Las Vegas yesterday and today for the first Silver State Invitational Soccer Tournament.

Ballistic United teams in the under-10, 13 and 14 bracket are expected to sweep the 26-team tournament.

Preliminary rounds commence Saturday, with the finals on Sunday.

All three Pleasanton entries boast previous tournament championships.

Coach Art Dawe's under-10 team may be the most powerful youth team in the state. It already has won championships in the Pleasanton Holiday Classic, and the Fresno tournament, and it won the Al Caffodio Fall league title.

The under-12's coached by Harry Miller, captured the Prince George pre-season tournament in Canada, and finished second in the Holiday Classic. They lost a 1-0 overtime decision in that championship contest.

Bob Stewart and Jay Clifton coach the under-14's, who have won a Fresno tourney title, and finished second at the Holiday tourney.

The Silver State tourney will be preceded tonight in Las Vegas by a reception for more than 300 out of state parents expected to flood the town.

Foothill girls still perfect

The Foothill High girl's basketball team ran its record to 5-0 yesterday afternoon as the Falcons dumped San Ramon 24-16 in a defensive struggle.

Foothill's Stacy Damerval led all scorers with 10 while Debbie Lloyd connected for three field goals for six points.

TV rid of 'bad' ref

The Western Basketball Association is bursting already from internal pressure, so Tri-Valley Warrior coach John Phillips won a concession Wednesday night concerning game officials.

The Sacramento referee who ejected an embittered Phillips twice this season, won't work any more Warrior games, it was decided. League owners agreed at their monthly meeting to reroute that one ref (name excluded) when the Warriors come to town.

League Publicisit Dale Hall pointed out, though, that the league wasn't condoning Phillips' action when he once threatened to take his team off the court in the state capitol.

Phillips charged earlier this week that his team is a target for WBA officials. He boiled over a couple of weeks ago when Tri-Valley lost a game to Sacramento, in which the Prospectors shot more than 50 free throws.

The problem with some WBA officials, is that they double as high school or junior college referees, Hall said. "They have a problem adjusting to the bigger players, and to all the bumping and shoving that goes on."

League owners also heard the discouraging word Wednesday night that they won't receive any emergency funding from the NBA.

There goes that Don Miller again

We used to wonder what it was that so consistently brought Don Miller into confrontation with what otherwise seemed to be a consensus of valley sentiment relative to some change, particularly if that change offered any progress. Now we being to understand what really motivates that one Livermore councilman and self - proclaimed protector of the people. It's his ego.

The latest Miller missive to Governor Brown attempting to sidetrack once again — this time perhaps forever — any improvement to that Dublin Canyon route is one more evidence of the man's tenacity. It is too bad there isn't a little humility to balance his fortitude. But Don Miller is a man who enjoys the political game for the game's sake; he likes to ride his horse and swat wind mills even when there are no wind mills worth swatting, or no horse worth riding. The important thing is to keep your name, and your cause, before the public. The damage you may create along the way is insignificant.

There are none of us enamored with freeways, of whatever size. There are damned few of us that fond of the automobile or of peak - hour driving, when you get right down to it. But most of us have to drive, some for a livelihood. The road that gets us to our destination with the least amount of time, trouble and potential mayhem is a blessing. Currently, Dublin Canyon is about the poorest piece of road in the Bay Area. Few of us are expert enough to know precisely what should be done; but we do know a change of considerable magnitude is needed, and soon.

As with most other major construction projects these days, the widening of Interstate 580 through Dublin Canyon had first to pass through a maze of political, financial and environmental tunnels before it could win final clearance. Interstate 580 did all that, and finally gained approval from all those agencies. That would seem to satisfy even the most ardent environmentalist. But no, when the decision does not go in their favor, these special champions of public concern reserve the right to call for a new review, with new ground rules.

Councilman Miller reserves just such a special place for himself in the Dublin Canyon matter. He does not really want "a new environmental review" at all. What he wants is one that agrees with his opinion of the matter. Until he gets such concurrence, Don Miller will use the stature of his municipal office to protest, to scream, and to screw up the any improvement of Dublin Canyon, if need be, until the rest of the world sees things his way.

About the only honest statement Councilman Miller has used is his suggestion that "the Stoneridge Regional Center is a major factor in all this." The builder of that promised retail hub and the city which would profit from that investment could care less about the width of Dublin Canyon insofar as it impacts the regional center. But Mr. Miller cares. He sees the cluster of handsome shops within the City of Pleasanton as a real threat to his own city's historical dominance of the valley's retail commerce. That is a fairly honest concern, if only Mr. Miller had the courage to say just that. But no, he hides behind some environmental enigma as a screen to his economic worries, or perhaps a sop to his ego. The laughable part of all this is that the Stoneridge Center is now many years down the road, while the need for Dublin Canyon's improvement is real and immediate.

Whether a ten - mile stretch of freeway is six lanes or eight lanes wide is not going to make a big change in this valley's environment, and the Miller forces know it. What really bothers them is the emergence of Pleasanton and Dublin as retail and political leaders of the Amador - Livermore Valley, and, since we don't fit the Miller mold, we aren't supposed to qualify for that role.

"En Garde!"

Financing the vote

When Proposition Nine was offered as the answer to all of California's campaign woes, this was one newspaper that suggested the cure might be worse than the ailment. Most particularly, we wondered if "the big spender and the big donor" wwould not always find a way around the law, while the little guy would simply quit in red - taped frustration."

Talking to the candidates for the 15th Assembly District vacancy, we get the feeling that this unwanted spinoff from Proposition Nine is already evident. "The guy who used to contribute $100 is confused by the new rules. And the candidate needs a CPA or an attorney on the campaign team to keep all the necessary records, and to stay out of jail," Joyce LeClaire told us. She is also concerned lest "the grass roots' candidate is also discouraged from running because of all these new rules." The jury is still out on that question.

We do have more immediate evidence however of yet another flaw in the whole campaign finance bit, and one that is not, could not be, covered by any piece of fair legislation. The recent edition of CAL - TAX NEWS reveals that in the 1974 state elections no group was more active in financing those campaigns than the public employees. The unions, the associations and the committees representing state and local governmental workers put up at least $1.7 million as "voluntary contributions" to further the cause of some candidate. We have therefore the prospect of the man who runs — or seeks to run — a large governmental department, being financed in his campaign for that office by those who work for that same department.

No one is naive enough to suggest that all of those campaign contributions were wholly voluntary. The subtle spreading of "the word" down the chain of command to the lowest level of that bureacratic maze is well known, and well documented. Neither is there any reason to suggest that public employees should be restrained from assisting the state or county or city politician of their choice.

But in a period of reduced campaign spending and new laws to purify the whole campaign process, it is worth noting that "fat cat corporation president" and the "big union boss" might soon be replaced by such as the California Teachers Association and the California State Employees Association — which together gave over $1 million to 1974 election campaigns — as the "source of political funding we should be worrying about."

Letters to the editor

New Town dialogue

Editor, The Times:

In a recent letter, I pointed out that although the Livermore School board has had lots of meetings this Fall (for which they are now paying themselves) there has been, incredibly enough, no dialogue about Geldermann's New Town. I pointed out the financial impact of having to provide schools in this area on the present taxpayers. I suggested that the board start discussions: 1. to make financial figures known, 2. to start negotiations with Geldermann so as to offset these costs or 3. to in fact divest ourselves from New Town.

Mr. Kendall Engelund, board president, wrote back and tried to paint a picture of a flurry of action about New Town at board meetings. Not many people attend board meetings. But I do and I know nothing has been going on about New Town. Just for the record I checked the board agenda at the library.

Mr. Engelund's claims are almost trivial to refute.

I found no agenda items on New Town in January (including Jan. 21, 1975), none during all of Dec., none during all of Nov., none during all of Oct., and only one during Sept. (at the very beginning Sept. 3, 1974 of school). And this one time the board voted to send a representative to the ABAG meeting of Sept. 4, 1974 here in Livermore!

Thus, with New Town certainly being one of the biggest things to hit our district and with New Town now steadily rolling to reality, there is no financial impact report. There have been no discussions this Fall about Geldermann providing school buildings. There have been no discussions about our school district getting out of the New Town area.

Mr. Engelund also clained that the board's deliberations about New Town have been reported in our local papers. This is going to be a little hard to believe since there were no deliberations to report.

The careful reader probably noticed that Mr. Engelund was vague and non - specific. If we don't hear from Mr. Engelund with any details, we can assume that in fact no such newspaper articles exist.

Now there has been MUCH talk at board meetings about beefing up our existing schools with a bond election. Supt. Croce has called Geldertown "an exciting challenge" (I don't believe that this fact can be made to "unhappen"). His salary is correlated with the number of students in our district. And he has led his board to the type of bond election which costs the taxpayers more, but only requires a simple majority vote (not a two - thirds majority).

But no talk of Geldertown!

Mr. Engelund's memory, it would seem, is not too reliable. Maybe his statements were just campaign oratory to bolster a sagging image. Or again maybe these were private or secret meetings that he attended himself.

Let's see our school board take some real initiative about Geldertown before it's too late.

Sincerely,
Gordon S. Smith
Livermore

Appreciation

Editor, The Times:

Through the columns of your newspaper, let me express the appreciption of The Salvation Army to all of the residents of this community who helped bring a happy Christmas to the many needing assistance this season.

In addition to its ongoing programs and activities yearround, The Salvation Army intensifies its efforts at Christmas to meet very special needs unique to the poor, tte homeless, the hungry; to people in prisons and those on military duty.

It provides toys and Christmas parites for children; dinners for those down on their luck; Visits invalids and elderly, and the lonely who might not be remembers at Christmas time.

These programs . . .this caring . . .are made possible by people who give and support the ministry of The Salvation Army.

Because the residents of this area have again demonstrated their concern and thoughtfulness for their fellow men and women, I extend my deepest thanks and that of the local Salvation Army Committee.

'Exceptional needs' a ploy?

Special Education, minus a program for mentally gifted children, may still be somewhat more than some teachers, administrators and parents conceive it to be.

Constantly referred to as being for children with "exceptional needs," this writer came away with the impression, following a special Amador-Pleasanton joint school boards meet Tuesday, that the State Dept. of Education-pushed program is another effort at trying to offer equal educational opportunities to minorities and the physically handicapped.

I see the great tide of students who are "average" in the basics and sciences, plus the great number, particularly in Pleasanton, who approach or are "mentally gifted", being passed by.

If this is in fact true of Special Education, then I am concerned at the amount of reports, studies, endless verbiage, meetings and taxpayer monies that are being directed toward this program.

In any event, the Amador and Pleasanton school boards passed a resolution earlier this week that places them in a "consortium," translated that means group of school districts, applying for a $30,000 state grant.

Presumably, when the 13 school districts that Amador and Pleasanton will be associated with receive funding, they will then be able to proceed with setting up the program in district schools.

Just how much they can do with the allocation they might get escapes me. The share for Amador and Pleasanton would be about $2,500 each. Little more than initial planning could be accomplished with this amount.

The goal, statewide, is to have a resource specialist at every school . . . every public school that is.

As Gloria Jones, District Coordinator of Pupil Personnel Services has stated, the application for the $30,000 state grant signals the districts' readiness to plan for Special Education.

When the planning is completed, and that could be well beyond a year in the future, a credentialed Special Education teacher with "three years of experience" (?) would be assigned to each school.

The resource person would be responsible for setting up the program, including the course and mode of instruction, and liaison with parents. He or she would also gather medical data, where appropriate, and handle grading. The resource person would have a minimum of one aide. Thus, the resource specialist would be the Special Education teacher at the school.

Two other comments, during the showing of slides at Tuesday's meeting, also stuck with us.

A narrator stated that "Special Education will guarantee equal education for all children though we recognize that it will threaten some institutions and methods." The latter half of that comment was not explained . . . we wish it had been.

The second comment that stayed with us was that there would be program labels applied only for data collecting. This was explained as a means of removing the stigma of "handicapped."

Now if educators would remove the stigma of such gobblygook as the "educationally disadvantaged" and children with "exceptional needs," it would be a giant step in the right direction.

Sound and Fury

Walt Hecox

Web Hamlet's barber shop was a social center of sorts in Cupertino back in the days of yore when this old man was standing his corduroy trousers in the corner each night when he retired.

A shave and haircut were six bits, although I had no need of the former when I first became a client of the village tonsorial artist whose head was as bare and shiny as any cue ball.

Later in life, while gathering copy for the Sunnyvale Standard, I allowed myself the luxury of a shave in Web's shop. That rare pleasure came only when the cards had fallen right in the back room at Billy's Cafe over the week end.

The state of my finances depended largely on the number of matching cards I could find in a hand of five card stud in those days. When I lost I lived on credit from payday to payday. A winning evening and all sorts of good things happened.

Once I drew inside to a straight flush and won a girl. The young fellow across the table had three jacks showing and one in the hole when I filled the flush. He tapped me and I raised.

"Everything I have is on the table," he said.

"Throw in the girl," I suggested.

And believe it or not, my friends, that is exactly what he did. She was a real keeper. Constructed like Raquel Welch. In those male chauvinist days she didn't mind a bit. All she wanted was a man. Trouble was she wanted a man to marry, a topic which could not have been farther from my mind.

(Come to think of it the mayor of Sunnyvale was a lass named Edwina Benner in those male chauvinist days. And no one thought her election was a victory for anyone except Schuckle's cannery where she was the office manager.)

Mostly my winnings were not quite that extravagant. I would take home enough for a steak at Billy's and a date with a girl on Saturday night.

Monday morning early I dropped by the barbershop for a shave and haircut. Web explained the fine art of shaving.

"A man's hand must be sure and steady," he told me. "Haircutting is a complicated trade, but shaving a man properly is a fine art. The razor must be feather light and the customer's face satin smooth when the shave is ended. Some folks come in here and ask me to scrape off their whiskers. So I use a dull blade. They want to be scraped, I scrape 'em."

Web's hand was feather light. He covered my face with hot towels and I went to sleep while he suggested a variety of outrageous things like firing the high school football coach and getting those damn bums in the unemployment lines back to work at good, steady jobs. When I awoke the whiskers were gone and I was refreshed.

I think of all this because Dor Hesselgrave called yesterday. Dor is a resident of San Ramon who qualifies as a senior citizen.

He undoubtedly remembers the days when haircuts cost even less than four bits. (That's fifty cents for the uninformed.)

Currently he sings with a barber shop quartet.

Several of my friends spend some part of their spare time singing in barber shop quartets. They warble in close harmony and take great joy in their product.

Vic Carruth of Dublin is one of them. So is Bill Bob Bird the one time San Lorenzo advertising salssman who is currently the public relations man for Shaklee products.

Bill belongs to a quartet known as "The Rejects" and more evenings than not he dons a striped red and white blazer and, with his three singing buddies, entertains one group or another.

"We never sing anything straight," he tells me. "But we try to keep them laughing."

The Rejects sing ditties like "Please, Mr. Columbus, turn the ship around."

They add gestures and motion to their production. Almost dance through the routine. And folks do laugh.

He and Dor will be singing in a Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing In America, Inc., production at the Berkeley Community Theatre, Allston and Grove Way in Berkeley Saturday night.

The SPEBSQSA presents the show each year in the name of sweet charity. The show is held for the benefit of the Institute of Logopedics which is the international service project of the SPEBSQSA.

What's that? You don't quite understand this logopedics thing? Neither did I, my friends. I thought a logoped might be dangerous.

Nothing could be farther from the truth. The Institute is the world's largest residential school for multihandicapped children who have difficulty in communication.

Music, I am told, is one form of therapy employed by the Institute. Which explains the theme and purpose of the show, "We sing so that they shall speak."

Bob tells me future generations will not have any trouble recognizing a barbershop quartet if the current growth of SPEBSQSA continues.

He says barbershop is four or forty or four hundred voices unaccompanied by musical instruments and singing in four part harmony.

Songs are widely varied from early American such as "Carry me back to old Virginny," to modern fare like "Aquarius."

No matter what the song's vintage may be, so long as it has a melody line (usually sung by a lead) around which a tenor, bariton and bass can add their parts, it will come out full of the rich and ringing chords which characterize it as barbershop harmony.

Throughout the United States and Canada and recently in Europe some 35,000 men of every age and every occupation get together in quartets and choruses to partake in the joys of singing.

Every year more than 1,000 quartets compete to determine the harmony champions of the universe.

On special occasions, such as Saturday night, barbershoppers from several choruses, blend their voices together in a mass sharing of their harmony that can only be described as, in the words of the ebullient Mr. Bird, "spectacular."

I've been to these affairs, though not quite of such magnitude as the Berkeley event, and found them to be highly entertaining.

Because of the voice requirements — tenor, baritone, bass and lead, formed back in the days of yore by the all male habitues of barbershops, the quartets are naturally chauvinistic.

But I expect a few women to be present. The female counterparts of the barbershop quartets are the Sweet Adelines, but blending their soprano and alto tones around a lead, rather than baritone, tenor and bass.

The National Organization for Women may have liberated the fair sex, but it hasn't liberated their voices and thank God for that small blessing.

We didn't do much barber shop singing at Web Hamlet's place in Cupertino. But it was a pretty active place.

As a boy I learned a lot there. Like playing the slot machines in the back room where Web augumented his income. The intricacies of pinochle and cribbage were explained to me there.

Also the delicate art of drawing to an inside straight flush in a game of five card stud. A hand which could win a man almost anything.

Including a pretty girl!!

For Friday, Jan. 24, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 9) You'll be getting good news you've been hoping for. It will come in an unusual, indirect manner, from left field.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Conditions you're not even aware of at present will have a favorable effect upon your position and income when they surface.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your ideas and actions will motivate those you'll be associating with today. Zero-in on worthwhile targets.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You will find that individuals will be far more co-operative today than yesterday. Needed aid will be volunteered.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A kindness you'll perform will later prove to be of even more benefit to you than it was to her.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Something important will be achieved today. Though you'll receive most of the credit you won't have pulled it off alone.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You'll do well with projects you can promote personally. If you have something of value to offer, get out and talk it up.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Conduct important business affairs as early in the day as possible. Though you'll come out favorably, they could take longer than you think.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're lucky in partnership matters now. Through a unique chain of circumstance you'll wind up with some extra profit.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't hide your light under a bushel at work. Tell the boss about ways you see to save time and money.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It would be a mistake to pass up social invitations today. There's a pleasant encounter in store for you with someone new.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A situation you've been dubious about will be suddenly finalized to your liking. You'll see how foolish it was to worry.

your birthday

Jan. 24, 1975

Sudden advance is likely to come this year quite unexpectedly in your field. Assistance will be available when needed through powerful contacts you'll develop.

Opening lead — K ♦

By Oswald & James Jacoby

West, an ordinary, good bridge player, led the king of diamonds.

This gave him a look at dummy and that look told him to shift to the king of clubs.

South, a cheerful, careless player rose with dummy's ace and went after trumps.

West took his ace and led the five of clubs. East won with the jack and led a third club whereupon East's nine of trumps became the setting trick.

A little thought would have kept South out of trouble. There was no hurry about taking that ace of clubs. He could have waited for the second club lead. After that play there would be no way for West to score his nine of trumps. South would have won the rubber instead of winding up in the soup.

As is the case with most bridge games no one mentioned that South had thrown away the rubber. West explained to us later that he had kept quiet because he wasn't proud of his double or his opening lead. He could have opened that king of clubs and beaten the hand irrespective of how South played.

Fifth building earmarked for valley campus

LIVERMORE — Chabot College's Valley campus will be getting a fifth building soon.

The Castro Valley firm of C.A. Gossett and Sons has been awarded the contract for "Building E," a combination laboratory - classroom building

When completed in September, the fifth building is expected to nearly double the number of students to be accommodated at the Valley campus . The first four buildings will house administration and a library as well as classrooms and are due to open for spring quarter, March 31.

In March, the campus will be able to handle 500 day students. The addition of "Building E" will increase capacity to 900 or 1,000 day students. In practice, more Valley residents than that will tramp through the halls each day because the school will be open evenings too.

Gossett's bid of $259,000 was lowest of the estimates, which ranged upwards to $327,700. The bids were referred to the Chabot staff for study and recommendation. The estimate on the planned building was $306,400.

The new campus going up north of Interstate 580 near the Livermore airport now sports nearly finished interior in the Livermore airport now sports nearly finished interiors in its four buildings. Ceilings and lighting fixtures are being installed, electrical service is being provided and water pressure is sufficient.

Work is scheduled to start on exterior plastering.

Meanwhile, Valley residents, undeterred by lack of a real college campus, have been attending Chabot courses in high schools in Livermore, Pleasanton and Dublin.

There are 1,781 students enrolled this quarter in the Valley, some 300 more than were attending Chabot a year ago.

Counting enrollment at the main campus in Hayward, Chabot's winter enrollment was 16,370 day and evening students, a 12.2 per cent increase over last winter.

Subcompact VW Rabbit is economic, versatile

Volkswagen Rabbit

Volkswagon dealers are adding a brand new subcompact to their line. Called the Rabbit, it is economical and versatile.

The Rabbit, which will be a companion car to the Beetle, not a replacement for it, is a front wheel drive, water cooled hatchback and is available in both two - and four - door models.

In dynamometer testing by the Environmental Protection Agency, Rabbit models achieved 38 miles per gallon in highway listings and 24 miles per gallon in city ratings.

Stuart Perkins, president of Volkswagen of America, pointed out, "VW engineers have come up with a car that doesn't have an ounce of fat, one which provides excellent operating economy, performance and value."

"The kind of advanced thinking that went into the luxurious Dasher models is evident in the Rabbit. Tests in our climatic wind tunnel helped to pare away unnecessary bulk and indicated where to use aerodynamics to reduce drag and unwanted turbulence. The running gear is equally advanced to provide outstanding performance and impressive handling."

"The Rabbit is the kind of machine that late-comers to the small-car field won't be building for years."

VW used the talents of Giorgetto Giugiaro's Ital Design Studio, of Turin, to shape the Rabbit. Wind tunnel experiments showed where curves and angles could be modified to reduce wind noise, help keep windows clean and improve fuel economy.

Though only a shade over 155 inches long, the Rabbit nevertheless has ample room for four on a wheelbase of 94.5 inches, thanks to engineering aimed at maximum space utilization. The outside size of the Rabbit was kept small by mounting the engine transversely, rather than "north and south" as in most cars.

The hatchback lends itself to creating a versatile car. The 12.4 cubic foot luggage area can be expanded to 24.7 cubic feet by folding down the rear seat if large bulky items have to be carried. The wide-opening hatch gives easy access.

The Rabbit has bucket seats in the front and a bench seat in the rear. Giugiaro's styling called for clean, lean lines and for large glass areas that give the driver and passengers excellent visibility all around. Air conditioning, a sun roof and automatic transmission are among the options. The passenger compartment was engineered as a rugged unit, while front and rear sections have specially designed energy absorbing zones.

A partial list of standard equipment specifications for the Rabbit reads like those for a sports car: a 70 bhp (SAE Net) overhead cam engine with light alloy cylinder head; cross-flow aluminum radiator (a new VW design); transversely mounted transmission whose clutch rod operates through a hollow shaft in the gear box (also a new VW design); front disc brakes and four-wheel independent suspension with an independent stabilizer rear axle that is simple, effective and reduces unsprung weight (another new VW design).

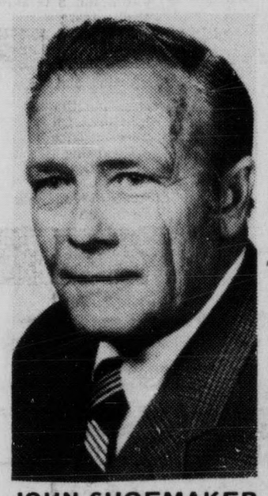
In track testing, the Rabbit scampers to a top speed of about 100 mph and it will accelerate from zero to 50 mph in less than nine seconds. Rack and pinion steering is standard and the front suspension geometry is designed to keep the car tracking straight when braking on surfaces with uneven friction, such as patches of ice or sand.

Careful attention was also given to making the Rabbit easy to work on for routine maintenance. The spark plugs, distributor, oil filter and other components are easy to get at. Routine maintenance is called for only every 15,000 miles.

Like all 1975 VWs, the Rabbit is equipped for Computer Analysis, VW's unique service check system. VW's Owner Security Blanket including a comprehensive 12-month, 20,000-mile warranty, and a 24/24 warranty on internal engine and transmission parts, covers the Rabbit.

Ford appoints Bay Area sales chief

The appointment of John H. Shoemaker to manager of the Oakland district sales office of the Lincoln - Mercury Division of Ford Motor Company is announced by Arthur B. Connors, division general sales manager.



JOHN SHOEMAKER

Shoemaker succeeds R. Fred Janeck, whose appointment as manager of the Memphis sales district for Lincoln - Mercury Division also is being announced by Connors.

The Oakland district supervises dealers in Northern California and Northern Nevada.

In assuming his new duties, Shoemaker said that new cars are an excellent value today — especially for the seven out of 10 buyers who trade in a used car — and are a much better buy than most customers realize.

A native of Detroit, Shoemaker joined Ford Motor Company as an executive trainee in Dearborn, Mich., in 1946 and moved into the Lincoln-Mercury Division general sales office. In subsequent promotions he served in various sales positions with Lincoln - Mercury district sales offices in Seattle, Los Angeles, and Denver and in divisional headquarters.

He was appointed Seattle district sales manager in 1962 and Cincinnati district sales manager in 1967. He was named leasing and fleet sales manager for the division in Dearborn in 1972.

Shoemaker holds degrees from Eastern Michigan University at Ypsilanti, and from New York University.

He and his wife, Patricia, have three sons and a daughter, John, (of Seattle), Patric, a student at Eastern, Timmy and Anne.

New Ford sale rebates range from $200 to $500

Following is a statement by John B. Naughton, vice president, Sales Group, Ford Motor Company:

Effective immediately, Ford Motor Company will give cash rebates of $200 to $500 to U.S. buyers of five of its small car lines and one of its light truck models.

A $200 rebate will be paid on 1975 Pintos, Mavericks and Comets; a $300 rebate on 1975 Mustang II hardtops and 2 + 2 models, a $500 rebate on 1975 Mustang II, Mach I and Ghia models, $500 on 1974 Capri models, and $350 on Fords new Supercab light trucks.

The rebate check will be mailed directly to customers by Ford Motor Company. The rebate offer extends through February 28 and covers new vehicles from dealer stock or from production, delivered by February 28.

Ford is undertaking this program in an effort to stimulate sales. We feel a cash rebate at this time will help influence potential buyers who have been reluctant to purchase automobiles because of the current economic climate. We look on this as a much needed move to improve consumer confidence.

Ford products in all market segments are competatively priced and represent an excellent value at current suggested retail prices. But something must be done to further encourage prospective buyers, and that's the reason for this action today.

Based on preliminary conversations with our dealers, we feel certain the public will greet the program with enthusiasm.

1975 Pinto Runabout offers refund

A sporty new Chevrolet intermediate, the Chevelle Laguna, has made its bow.

Chevrolet Laguna expected to attract auto enthusiasts

Chevrolet Motor Division has announced the introduction of the stylish Chevelle Laguna Type S-3 as a 1975½ model.

The sporty new intermediate will made its official bow to the public at the Detroit Auto Show recently.

The Laguna Type S-3 coupe is distinguished by a new front-end design using a color-keyed "soft" urethane front end panel over an impact absorbing bumper system.

The Laguna S-3 is available in six exterior colors specifically selected to match interior trim, optional vinyl roof and body striping. It is powered by a 350-cubic inch V8 (with 400 V8 optional), has radial ply tires, 15-inch rally wheels and specially-tuned suspension.

Further details of the new Laguna Type S-3 include an optional vinyl-covered sport roof (forward half-top is covered); body paint stripes, wheel opening moldings and bucket seats with Laguna trim. Color-keyed front and rear bumper impact strips are standard together with specific front, side and rear Type S-3 emblems. Also distinctive are louvered rear-quarter windows, color-keyed instrument panel and specific interior trim.

The Laguna Type S-3 is available for sale in Chevrolet dealerships from coast - to - coast. The car is being built at five different assembly plants.

Chevrolet marketing officials anticipate that the Laguna S-3 will have its greatest attraction to "automobile enthusiasts."

A new Camaro Rally Sport model option was also introduced at the Detroit Show. This new option will give the Camaro an even more dashing look with new color styling and striping.

The new Camaro option, available on both regular sport coupe and Type LT, features two-tone paint treatment of black with any of five different body colors, tri-color striping to separate the black and body color two-toning and tri-color decals. The package also includes Rally wheels, black - accented grille, special headlamp trim and sport mirrors. Additional optional equipment includes a special sports suspension, wheels, spoilers and other trim items.

Auto industry changes noted

Detroit Editor Bob Lund, in a recent issue of Motor Magazine, the mechanic's trade journal, reports that the service industry expects to pick business a bit next year through the repair guarantees offered by cars sellers.

More and more sales firms are offering warranties against the mechanical breakdown of used cars. This is a new development and is not to be confused with the guarantees that new car dealers make when they sell a used car of the same make as their new cars. Different plans are available in different parts of the country.

Buyers can purchase the warranty from the dealer; either the new car dealer or the used car dealer, through the finance company or direct from the firm
